Evaluate for REHS Required Courses
The subcommittee members were able to access the information on the link provided for the College Algebra course offered as an online course from the University of North Dakota. They were unable to make a determination on this class because the description was too vague. They are willing to review it again if the applicant can provide a course syllabus.

Evaluate for Option I - Science Credit Only
CSU Sacramento – FACS 120 – Sports Nutrition – The members agreed that the previous award of science credit for FACS 113 was reasonable. They did not approve FACS 120 for science credit. The course objectives describe this course as a nutrition course aimed at providing and understanding the role of a dietary program on the physical performance in athletes.

Update from Cal Baptist University – Proposed Option III Curriculum
The members commented that BIO 148 (Anatomy and Physiology) was added to the combination of 3 classes to meet the General Biology Lecture and Laboratory requirement because it rounded out the overall educational objectives of a course in General Biology Lecture and Laboratory.
BIO 146 and BIO 148 have already been approved for Option I or Option II.
Ms. Malloy asked the subcommittee members to consider approving a waiver from the CPS HR transcript evaluation considering this is an approved curriculum for Option III. There may be matriculation concerns if the student transferred in from another junior or community college. Ms. Malloy will discuss this with Dr. Marshare Penny.
